

Enterprise Success Package

Best-in-class service built for the enterprise

The dedicated support and guidance your enterprise deserves

When your organization's success depends on the software products you build and the teams who develop them, you expect reliable and exhaustive support. With the Enterprise Success Package, your expectations will be met with access to both a named Technical Account Manager (TAM) and 24x7 Premier Support services from Atlassian.

TAMs serve as cross-functional technical advisors who provide proactive planning and strategic guidance for your organization's Atlassian applications. Premier Support provides direct access to a dedicated global team of Senior Support Engineers who are committed to delivering higher SLAs, faster triage and faster resolutions for technical support issues. Together, these enterprise services work alongside one another to enable your teams to achieve success on Atlassian products.
